The Cyclic poet who composed the Homeric account (according to which the terrors there—know of her cunning skill, anger found him; he disguised himself, and made himself like girls disputing, one of them saying that Aias was slain by Eurypylus, and:</P>